GRIM BATTLE OF PHILIPPINES DEVELOPS MENACING PHASE

United States Submarines Sink Two Japanese Vessels

American - Filipino Forces Hold Their Lines on the Island

United States submarines have sunk two more Japanese vessels, one a transport and the other a supply ship, in the Far East, the navy announced today as a new and possibly menacing phase developed in the grim battle of the Philippines.

The brief naval communiqué also acknowledged that a United States destroyer had suffered slight damage and minor casualties under enemy air attack but did not identify the vessel or give any other particulars.

Determined American and Filipino forces were reported in Manila to be holding their lines, even bettering them at one point, against steadily growing Japanese strength in northern Luzon but a war communiqué in Washington suggested that a deep American withdrawal was in prospect or already had been undertaken.

General MacArthur, it said, had shortened his lines and consolidated most of his troops in Pampanga province to face heavily augmented enemy infantry, cavalry and tank regiments "composed of veteran soldiers with modern equipment."

Although this meant a new line virtually mid-way between the Gulf of Lingayen and Manila, it indicated an American stand in terrain long envisaged as a battlefield against invasion and the scene of repeated peacetime defense rehearsals.

The northern border of Pampanga is about 55 miles above Manila. The southern border is only 25 miles distant.

Time apparently was becoming a vital factor in the fierce battle of the Philippines as the Japanese, thus far unable to build up a crushing force despite their already overwhelming numbers, poured men ashore and the United States gave the beleaguered islanders hope that help was on the way.

Elsewhere, the war bulletin said, there was "nothing to report."

It acknowledged that both sides had suffered heavy losses but declared that the island's defenders, "despite constant fighting against heavy odds, are in high spirits and are offering stubborn resistance."

Although the Philippines remained the focus of Japan's campaign in the Pacific, the enemy widened and intensified its offensive in the vast spaces of the Pacific.

In the ring of positions Japan apparently is attempting to surround Singapore, Britain's prime far eastern defense bastion, Japanese were said to have:

1. Put paratroopers ashore near Medan, on the east coast of Dutch Island of Sumatra, flanking Malaya across the narrow Malacca strait.

2. Captured Ipoh, the communications and tin mining center in Federal Malaya, 200 miles north of Singapore on the Malayan Peninsula.

3. Captured Kuching, the capital of Sarawak, on the British part of the island of Borneo.

Ipoh is on the line of the direct Japanese thrust toward Singapore and Tokyo declared that its capture opened the way to the invaders' "modern roads and methods of transportation for a power drive toward Singapore."

Dutch forces, flying American-built bombers, scored again in their ship-a-day schedule against the Japanese, announcing a direct hit on a large Japanese transport and the probable destruction of

SUICIDE SQUADS OF FILIPINOS HALT INVADERS

By Russell Brines

Manila, Dec. 29.—(A.P.)—"Suicide squads" of young Filipino soldiers were credited today with halting the first rush of the Japanese advance in northern Luzon and helping to drive back the invaders in at least one sector. But U. S. army headquarters at the same time warned of a fresh threat in the south, where they said the Japanese were landing reinforcements.

Army advisers otherwise were meager, simply reporting "no material change" in the north or south. An officer returned from the northern front said the Japanese appeared to be falling back from Tuguegarao, 100 miles north of Manila and 20 miles inland from Lingayen gulf, and a Manila bulletin reported back from the same sector told of the work of the "suicide squads."

(Bert Silen, NBC reporter in Manila, said eyewitnesses returning from the front, reported the Japanese "in full retreat" in the province of Pangasinan, just south of Lingayen gulf, with four towns recaptured out of the six they had occupied. In the south, Silen said, the defenders' lines "are in excellent condition," expected to hold the enemy in check.)

The young Filipinos, he said, had fought off the Japanese for at least 48 hours, beginning Christmas morning, thus enabling the army command to reorganize the main body of the defense forces and redouble them in more favorable terrain.

CHUTE LANDINGS ARE DISCOUNTED

By the Associated Press

Batavia, N. E. I., Dec. 29.—(A.P.)—American-built bombers of the N. E. I. army air force have scored a direct hit on a large Japanese transport and shot down "probably" two Japanese fighter planes in an attack on Miri, Sarawak, a communiqué released by Aneta, N. E. I. news agency, reported today.

The fact that the communiqué made no reference to yesterday's landing of Japanese paratroops near Medan, on the island of Sumatra, led observers here to believe the invaders had been unable to make much headway in their first attempt to win a foothold on Indies territory.

(BBC, in a broadcast heard in New York by NBC, quoted a Batavia Communiqué as authority for the statement that "the reports of a Japanese parachute landing on Medan on Sumatra are based on a misunderstanding from the Japanese air raid on this town.")

Today's communiqué did, however, raise the toll of a simultaneous Japanese air attack on the Medan airport.

Netherlands forces also set a Japanese cruiser afire off the island of Celebes.

Eight Enemy Ships Totaling 15,650 Tons, Oil Tanks, Ammunition Stocks and Quisling-Owned Industrial Plant Destroyed During British Raid On Island 100 Miles North of Bergen

ENTIRE GARRISON IS REPORTED CAPTURED

By the Associated Press

Simultaneous British and Russian blows on Germany from east and west underscored the vulnerability of the Nazis' exposed, flanking flanks today as Britain and Russia announced a new agreement aimed at "the utter defeat of Hitlerite Germany."

From the east, the Russians kept up their remorseless pressure, showing the receding German line still farther back from the environs of Moscow.

At the same time, on the west, the British uncorked a surprise stab on the German-held Atlantic coast of Norway and again sent their warplanes fanning over German territory from the "invasion coast" of France to the great shipping ports of the Reich itself.

Chief targets of the RAF were the ports of Emden and Wilhelmshaven and the industrial areas of the Rhineland where, with the help of good weather, a communiqué said, heavy attacks were made.

The announcement of the Allies' agreement came from London and from Moscow where, it was disclosed, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden has been in consultation with Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin.

On the Russian war front the Red army troops were reported to have shattered a division of German feedlings of 17 and 18 years of age on the Kalinin front; ripped through the German lines south of Moscow to Likhvin, 50 miles west of Tula, and Ekelev, 50 miles south-east of Kaluga, menacing the German retreat to Smolensk; and captured Novosil, 100 miles south of Tula in a drive on Orel, 40 miles to the west.

Reports reached Moscow of the recapture by the Russians of more than 450 towns and villages.

While the Russians ground the Germans back on the east, the

MEMORY OF WILSON IS LAUDED BY SEN. GUFFEY

Washington, Dec. 29.—(A.P.)—Humanity would have been spared "its second crucifixion," says Senator Joseph E. Guffey (D-Pa.), "had Woodrow Wilson's aspirations not been rejected by his people in the most solemn hour of history."

Speaking over a nation-wide broadcast on the 35th anniversary of Wilson's birth, Guffey said yesterday that Wilson failed in his peace aims "because the American people were deceived by propaganda of misrepresentation as that of Goebbels.... and he failed because some men, in pursuit of office only, and to satisfy a partisan malice, were ready to gamble on the crucifixion of mankind."

Washington, Dec. 29.—(A.P.)—Two American freighters were sunk in the Pacific by Axis submarine torpedoes the night of Dec. 17 with a toll of nine dead and 33 missing.

The vessels were the 6,000-ton Matson Navigation Company and the 7,000-ton Prusa of the Lykes Brothers Lines.

Two lifeboats, one containing 12 survivors of the Matson's crew of 33 and the other 13 survivors of the Prusa's crew of 34, were picked up Saturday after nine perilous days adrift in the small boats. The

Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 29.—(A.P.)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill reached Ottawa by special train from Washington today to receive an enthusiastic welcome from Canadians on his history-making visit to North America.

He raised his hand in the "V" sign of victory, and lifted his black hat as cheers of the crowd rang through the station area at the first glimpses of the familiar Churchillian countenance. He was gripping the inevitable cigar.

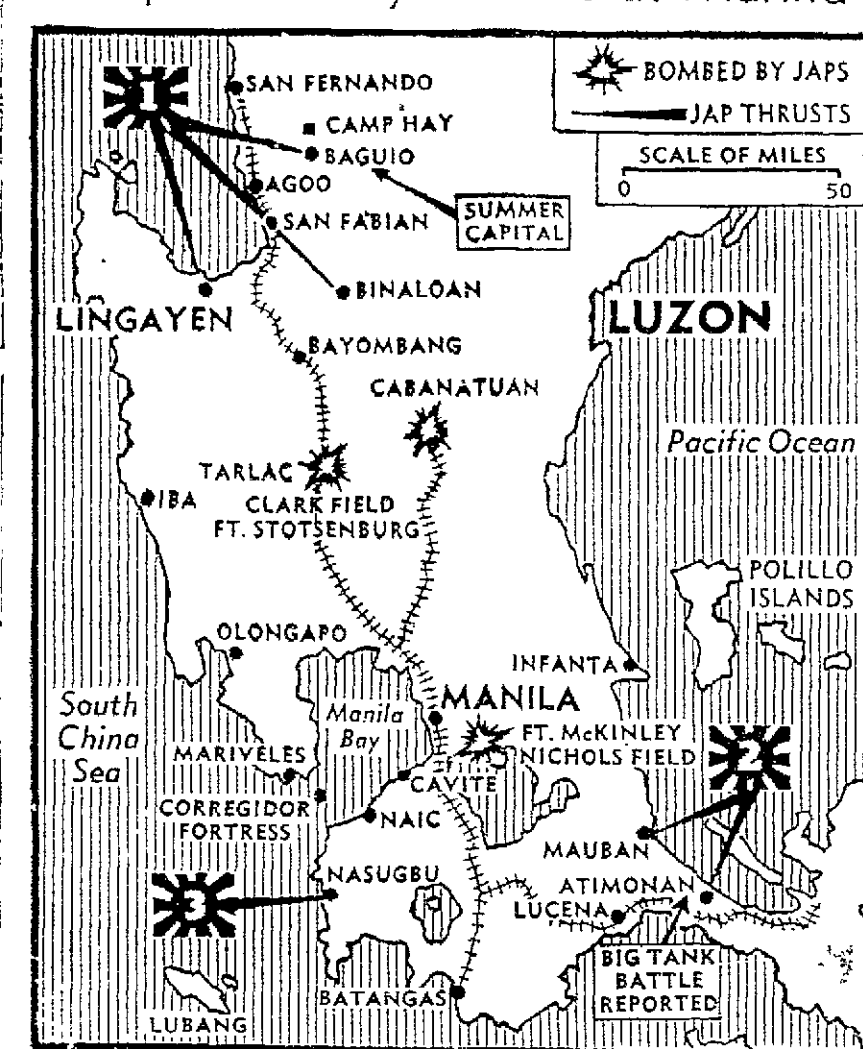

He is to give an important address to the Canadian people tomorrow.

His ruddy face was wreathed in steam from nearby puffing locomotives.

Japs Intensify Thrusts at Manila

Multiple Japanese landings on Luzon gained the enemy some headway against American forces, but also cost Nippon a heavy toll of casualties. Major battles were in the Lingayen sector (1) where Baguio was reported near capture, and around Atimonan (2). Another Jap landing was reported at Nasugbu (3).

Probably No Military Force In American History Ever Fought Against Greater Odds Than Marines, Navy Report Declares

A GRIPPING STRUGGLE

Honolulu, Dec. 29.—(A.P.)—Dispatches sent while death rained from sky and sea on virtually shelterless Wake Island sketched tersely today how less than 400 marines, with only four planes aloft, held off numerically superior Japanese for 14 days, bagging 12 aircraft and five ships before being overpowered.

"Probably no military force in American history, not even the defenders of the Alamo, ever fought against greater odds nor with greater effect in view of those

'FRISCO BOMBING REPORT TRACED

San Francisco, Dec. 29.—(A.P.)—The navy, disclosing that Japanese broke in upon an American shortwave broadcast to the Philippines with false reports of a bombing attack on San Francisco, asked radio listeners today to be watchful for such enemy activities.

An announcement by the navy said listeners in Manila were astonished Sunday morning when the regular broadcast from San Francisco's station KGEI was interrupted by announcements that Japanese planes had bombed San Francisco, leaving much of the city in flames.

Naval intelligence officers at Manila reported that KGEI's regular early morning war eastern broadcast was cut into three or four times. Each time an English-speaking announcer read a "flash" giving details of the "San Francisco disaster."

"The interferences," said the navy, "obviously came from a powerful Japanese station deliberately intruding on the KGEI wavelength."

Actually San Francisco spent a quiet night during the period it was reported to have been attacked.

Broadcast of Churchill's address to the Canadian parliament is being arranged for Tuesday afternoon by the CBS, NBC-Blue and MBS networks. The time is announced as 1:45 p. m. (EST), or

EDEN ENDS TALKS IN MOSCOW

Soviet Russia and Great Britain in Full Accord on Conduct of War Through Momentous Negotiations Between Stalin and British Foreign Secretary the Past Two Weeks

IMMEDIATE TASK IS DEFEAT OF GERMANY

Moscow, Dec. 29.—(A.P.)—Soviet Russia and Great Britain were in full accord today on conduct of the war through momentous Moscow negotiations between Premier Stalin and British Foreign Secretary Eden paralleling the Roosevelt-Churchill meetings in Washington.

Their agreement was announced simultaneously in London and Moscow last night following conferences which have taken place during the last half of this month in the Kremlin with the United States kept closely informed.

Not only have the London and Moscow governments agreed upon plans for prosecuting the war, the statement said, but they also have already initiated discussions on post-war peace and security.

But the immediate task, it emphasized, is the defeat of Germany. The Stalin-Eden conversations were regarded here as a counterpart of the just concluded Washington talks between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill and also of the historic Atlantic charter meeting of the American and British leaders.

The United States interest in the Moscow deliberations was stressed by the fact that Walter Thurston, American charge d'affaires at Kuibyshev, the auxiliary capital, flew to Moscow to keep his government informed.

Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek was understood to have also a representative at the Kremlin talks and it was reported that Sir Hugh Knatchbull-Hugessen, British ambassador to Turkey, and Sir Reader Bullard, minister to Iran also were present.

Eden spent a day at the Moscow front, visiting the Kremlin, 50 miles northwest of the capital.

Meanwhile on the military front

REDISTRICTING PLAN MEETING NEW OBSTACLES

Harrisburg, Dec. 29.—(A.P.)—New obstacles to congressional reapportionment developed today as a special legislative committee came to the capitol to present its proposal for a solution to Governor James.

Allegheny county Democrats bolted against elimination of one of their representatives and instructed Assemblyman William L. Shaffer to oppose any such plan when a special session of the legislature is called to act on reapportionment and defense subjects.

Democratic State Chairman Meredith Meyers, meanwhile, declared he had examined the legislation and found it "all right."

Philadelphia, Dec. 29.—(A.P.)—The conversation went like this when two Roosevelts met for the first time:

"My, my, isn't he strong?" Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

"Gurgling, gurgling," the week-old son of Ensign Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., and the former Ethel DuPont.

The first lady flew here yesterday to see her 11th grandchild and his mother at Lying-In Hospital. Both mother and son, she said, are "doing just fine."

Istanbul, Dec. 27.—(Delayed)

George H. Earle III, who has been United States minister to Bulgaria, arrived today from Sofia and described a deepening gloom settling upon Nazi-dominated Europe.

The former Pennsylvania governor said Rumanian and Hungarian hospitals were choked with German wounded from eastern front hospitals and asserted that German people and soldiers alike were sickened by Adolf Hitler's assumption of personal command of the German army.

Earle arrived with his entire legation staff after being hustled, States.

ILLINOIS MINE ACCIDENT TAKES LIVES OF EIGHT

Rescue Squads Work For Seventeen Hours Before Bringing to Surface the Last of the Charred and Mangled Bodies

CAUSE UNDETERMINED

BY KEN DAVIS

Harrisburg, Ill., Dec. 29.—(A.P.)—Eight coal miners lost their lives in a gas explosion in the Peabody Company's Mine No. 47 at nearby Harco, yesterday.

State mine rescue squads worked for 17 hours before bringing to the surface the last of the charred and mangled bodies of the victims.

Seven were recovered about twelve hours after the blast, which occurred at 3:30 a. m., while the eighth, Harold Holden, 30, an examiner, of Harrisburg, was not found until late last night.

As relatives made plans today for the burial of the miners, who were identified only by their cap numbers because of the condition of their bodies, state mine and company officials investigated to determine the cause of the explosion.

Meanwhile, the only survivors—two shot miners—Frank Dietz, 46, Harco, and Claude M. Phelps, 55, Galatia, recovered slowly in a Harrisburg hospital from shock and black damp.

Dietz and Phelps were working in a room near the shaft. After the blast shocked and feeling bad air, they put out lights and slid

RIVERFRONT BOMBS ARE NOT DANGEROUS

Philadelphia, Dec. 29.—(A.P.)—Five powder-filled cylinders which officials at first declared were incendiary bombs, discovered on the city police dock and creating a sabotage scare along the defense-important Delaware river front, were described by Detective Captain Joseph Kearns today as "the kind of flares used by fishermen."

"They were not dangerous," he asserted.

The cardboard containers, each about 18 inches long and filled with black powder attached to a fuse, were found yesterday behind a pile of old fish nets on the dock at the foot of Race street, in the shadow of the Philadelphia-Camden, N. J., bridge.

Army and navy intelligence officers and FBI agents were called into the investigation, and special police patrols were ordered to search every pier along the sprawling waterfront.

ERIE MUSICIAN AND HOTEL MAN DIES SATURDAY

John F. Knoll, proprietor of the nationally-known Knoll's Hotel at Harborcreek and synonymous with Erie music at its best until his retirement as a professional bandman and instructor 15 years ago, died at 6 p. m. Saturday at his home after three weeks' illness.

The son of Anthony Knoll, German immigrant, and Erie's first bandmaster, John was born in that city, one of ten children, all talented musically. From boyhood he gained a reputation as a cornetist, playing theatre and summer engagements in Pittsburgh, Atlantic City, Jacksonville, Saratoga Springs, conducting orchestras in the old Park and Majestic theatres in Erie; achieving fame with the famous John Philip Sousa and Ringling Bros. bands; one of the organizers and teachers of the Erie Music Band. He also conducted a studio instructing in all band instruments.

Mr. Knoll opened the Knoll Hotel in 1898 and operated it continuously, except for a brief period when he leased it and ran a similar business in Girard.

Surviving him are his wife, Laura B. Shreve Knoll, native of Union City, whom he married 26 years ago; two sisters, Miss Ida Knoll and Mrs. Rose Schaal, both of Erie, and a brother, Martin, San Diego, Calif. An only son, Kenneth J. Knoll, of Warren, preceded him in death.

Funeral services will be held on Tuesday at 2 p. m. from the Schaal Funeral Home in Erie. Burial will be private.

WARREN WOMAN HURT IN CRASH AT JAMESTOWN

Mrs. Victoria Lindgren, 20, of 506 East street, is in the Hamot Hospital in Erie for treatment of a fractured left shoulder, sustained last Thursday night when a car operated by her husband, Ralph Lindgren, figured in an accident at Jamestown, N. Y.

Besides the fractured shoulder, Mrs. Lindgren has lacerations over the right eye and under the left eye and bruises about the body. Her husband escaped with minor bruises.

Also injured in the accident was Margaret Keivash, 17, of Jamestown, who sustained a large forehead bruise. She was treated at a Jamestown hospital.

According to reports, the accident occurred when Lindgren, driving west on Eighth street in Jamestown, failed to observe a stop sign at Washington street, which was obscured by a parked car. The second vehicle, driven by Carl H. Swanson, Jr., of Jamestown, struck Lindgren's car and continued across the street, striking the Stenburgh Market and breaking a large window.

In company with their daughter, Mrs. E. Kent Kane, and children, of Kane, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Schuler left last week for Florida, where they will spend the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Francis and Phyllis, of Dayton, O., are guests this week of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lyle. Phyllis has been engaged in defense work in Dayton and will soon be transferred to some destination for more urgent work of this kind.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle have received a letter from their oldest son, James, who has been in the U. S. Navy for the past nine years and was stationed in Hawaii at the time of the Japanese attack.

The Loyalty class of the Methodist Sunday school held its annual Christmas party in the church basement Tuesday evening. The members of this class are pupils in high school or older.

Mrs. F. H. Pittcock, James Pittcock and infant, Richard Troutman, of Kane, and Fred Pittcock, Jr., who is a student at Park Air College, East St. Louis, Ill., were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stover, Monday.

The remains of Mrs. Coquese Herring were brought here for interment Monday afternoon. Mrs. Herring has lived in Barnes at different intervals in her life and has a large number of friends and relatives who will mourn her passing. She was a sister of the late D. R. and John Titus.

HEAD INJURIES ARE FATAL TO N. WARREN MAN

Paul Moravek, 60, of North Warren, passed away at the Warren General Hospital this morning at 6:30 o'clock from injuries received in an unknown manner last week. Moravek was found in an unconscious condition in a barn at the Warren State Hospital early Wednesday morning and was brought to the hospital here.

Coroner Ed C. Lowrey ordered an autopsy which was performed this morning. Although the full report of the autopsy has not been revealed it was definitely established that Moravek had sustained a fractured skull.

Deputy Sheriff L. E. Linder, State Motor Policeman K. W. Leeper and the coroner are continuing their investigation in an effort to learn how his injuries were received.

The deceased was born in Czechoslovakia October 24, 1882, and came to this country in 1913. He had been a farmer in Conewango township since 1922. Surviving are two brothers, John Moravek, of Warren, and Joe Moravek, of Czechoslovakia. His wife, Susanna Moravek, preceded him in death.

Funeral services in his memory will be held from the Lutz Funeral Home Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be in Oakland cemetery.

NORTH WARREN MAN IS FOUND DEAD IN HOME

M. Clinton Hays, 69, one of the best known residents of North Warren, was found dead on the floor of the kitchen of his home at 8 North State street about 9:30 o'clock Sunday morning when a neighbor, William Hutchison, went to the home when he became alarmed over the fact that Mr. Hays had not been seen since early Saturday afternoon.

A physician who was called informed Coroner Lowrey that death apparently occurred Saturday afternoon.

The position of the body, which was lying prone on the floor with the face resting on the hands, indicated that Mr. Hays probably was taken ill while in the kitchen and collapsed before he could reach a bedroom. A heart ailment was given as the cause of death.

The coroner was informed that Mr. Hays had been seen in the back yard of his home chopping wood shortly before noon Saturday, and about two o'clock he visited the business section of North Warren. It is believed that death occurred between two and three o'clock.

Mr. Hays was born in Townville, Crawford county, in 1872, but had lived in North Warren for nearly fifty years. He was employed at the Warren State Hospital, where in later years, until his retirement, he had charge of the store room. His wife died about three years ago, since which time he had resided alone.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Anna Pratt, and two grandchildren, of Mercer; a brother, Sherman Hays, and a sister, Miss Alice Smith, both of Erie.

He was a member of the First Baptist church and an honorary member of the board of deacons of that church.

Friends may call at the home in North Warren until eleven o'clock tomorrow morning, at which time services in his memory will be held with Rev. James A. Davidson officiating. Further services will be held from the Arnold Funeral Home in Townville tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Interment will be made at Townville.

About one of every six candidates for the Naval Academy fails to pass his eye tests.

COUNTY SCHOOL TEACHERS ARE AT CONVENTION

Warren borough and county educators are among those from the entire state attending the annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Education Association, which opened today in Harrisburg.

Those attending as representatives of the Warren borough P S E A branch are James Springer and Miss Gunnevere Knapp. Representatives of the county branch are D. J. Howard, of Sheffield, and Clair Conley, of Lottsville. Also attending the sessions are John G. Rossman, superintendent of the Warren borough schools, and H. L. Blair, county school superintendent.

In opening the convention today President Dr. Levi Gilbert told the delegates that the war means the revamping of school curricula, putting into practice courses applying to defense of the nation.

The annual program of the association carries the slogan, "America Must Be Strong." Dean Harold Benjamin, of the University of

Maryland College of Education, keynotes the meeting Tuesday with an address on "America Must Be Strong—And Smart, Too, If Possible." Lt. Col. George R. Hutchinson, of Tuxton, Md., recently engaged in ferrying bombers to England, speaks the next day on "It Can Happen Here."

CORRY ACCIDENT

Three cars were damaged but no one was hurt in a crash which occurred early Saturday morning in Corry. A car owned by Cleo Haelin and driven by his brother, John F. Haelin, both of Grand Valley, was being driven east on Main street when the operator was blinded by lights of an approaching car, his automobile first crashing into a parked car, owned by Clifford Carroll, and hitting the approaching machine reported to have been driven by George Drobneck.

Chapter 33
Miss Olive's "Crush"

"THERE'S writing on the back of the picture," Mrs. Thorne said. "See, it says, 'Henry with Lucky and Juanita.' It is peculiar, now you speak of it. I thought he looked like a minister, but I never connected him with that exhibition. He must have been a most unusual man, that Ferdinand."

"That who?" Asey stared at her.

"Ferdinand."

"Who in time was he?" "He was the photographer in—well, it would be just now, but in those days it was Pochet. Just think, it never occurred to me when Ann showed me this, but it is one of Ferdinand's pictures. Those gardeners of grass, and that spiked iron railing are in every family picture for miles around. Ferdinand must have taken pictures of half the Cape. And what amazes me," Mrs. Thorne added, "isn't just the way his pictures kept—they never faded out white, like some—but the way people kept his pictures. I suppose that's why, though. They kept, and so people kept them."

"Looky here," Asey said, "Ann Joyce wasn't a Cape Coddier, was she? Was her folks Cape Coddiers?"

"Her folks are dead," Mrs. Thorne said. "She's an orphan. I don't think she has any family at all, except this cousin on her mother's side who died. And I'm sure she told me she was born in New York state. She lives in New York now. Of course, Cape Coddiers spread out, but people always know if they do come from the Cape. They go on to take that picture with you?"

"Uh-huh, I wonder," Asey said, "where are those pictures now? Mr. Philipotts had in his exhibition?"

"Why, he just borrowed them from people," Mrs. Thorne said. "I suppose he gave them back afterwards—is this important, this picture? Is it a clew?"

"I don't know," Asey told her honestly, "if it's a clew, or just a sort of puzzle. If this fellow with the whiskers really was a minister, then most likely this picture don't mean much. You know, whenever ministers left a church, they used to give everybody a picture of themselves—we got a raft of ministers at home in albums. On the other hand, it's sort of an odd coincidence to have this picture turn up here now, considerin'! Huh. Did the girl mention any new play she wanted to be in?"

"No, she didn't say much about her work. But she seemed kind of excited these last couple of days," Mrs. Thorne said, "told those troopers so. And I told them that she hadn't any fights or quarrels with anyone, nor any enemy in the world. She was a nice girl. As nice a girl—"

"Uh-huh, Mrs. Hingham," Asey said hurriedly before Mrs. Thorne had a chance to launch into any recital of Ann's sterling virtues, "she told me as much just a little while ago. I'm goin' along now, but if you remember anything about this picture, like who Old Whiskers is, I wish you'd contrive to let me know."

"Angie Herring's mother could probably tell you. She's ninety-five," Mrs. Thorne said, "and remembers everything. Particularly about ministers. She told Mr. Philipotts lots of things."

"Thanks," Asey said. "I'll look into her tomorrow."

Mrs. Clutterfield thinks HE returned to the roadster, where Mrs. Clutterfield greeted him with an arch salute.

"Where to, sir?" she asked brightly.

Asey frowned. "I'm torn," he said. "I got this yen to tear a ninety-five-year-old woman out of her bed at what time is it, quarter to two? An' at the same time I want to see this Bram Reid, an' I want to see Horace."

Huh, I guess I better see him first. Back to the inn, please. Tell me, you happen to know Horace's last name?"

"His last name?" Like everyone else, Mrs. Clutterfield seemed dumfounded at the suggestion that Horace might possess a last name. "Why, Hingham, of course! Oh, no, it couldn't be Hingham, could it? Isn't that strange, I can't remember!"

"Neither can anyone else," Asey said. "What's Horace like, that people remember only half of him?"

"Why, you saw him," Mrs. Clutterfield said. "He must have passed by you when you went into the Theater. Or see Mrs. Hingham. He had on shorts and a blazer—"

"What? Shorts an' a blazer? That fellow? If I was drivin' Asey said, "we'd be strugglin' in a ditch this instant! You mean, that blonde youth? Him? He couldn't have been more than twenty."

buy cigarettes with. He often borrows money from Alfred—ready, I've often thought that if Mrs. Hingham were as fond of Horace as she seems, she should really make him a small allowance. Just so he would have a little pocket money. Mr. Mayo."

"Uh-huh," Asey said. "Good drivers watch the road."

"Mr. Mayo," Mrs. Clutterfield spoke to the windshield wiper, "of course I can't ever solve those little daily mystery cartoons but, you know, a little bird has just told me where Miss Olive went!"

"Where?"

"You know," Mrs. Clutterfield said coyly, "I think Miss Olive has a crush on Bram Reid! I mean it! She doesn't often talk to people, but last week she and I were both sitting out on the lawn just after Bram had left with Horace, and I said wasn't he still marvelous looking And you know what? She unbuttoned."

"The road," Asey said, "Don't get so worked up that you forget the road, now!"

"I'm sorry! But she confessed she'd seen everyone of Bram Reid's pictures, and some of them four or five times! I gathered she was dying to meet him and talk to him, but she was too shy just to walk up and speak to him. She's awfully shy, really. And when Freddy said tonight—she was talking to that police lieutenant and giving him a description of what Miss Olive was wearing this afternoon—when she said Miss Olive wore a gray hat with a feather, I almost spoke up then."

"In short where do you think Miss Olive went tonight?"

The Trail

"To the White Horse Grill. You see, while we were talking about Bram Reid, she and I, I suggested that if she ever wanted to see him, she had only to go to the White Horse Grill. Horace told me Bram Reid always has dinner there. Now, Mr. Mayo, I can't even do those little mystery cartoons, but I've been wondering if maybe it couldn't be something as simple as that? She just went to see Bram Reid!"

"You suggestin' she eloped with him after dinner?" Asey inquired dryly.

"No, indeed! Only, because she was wearing that new hat. I decided she must be going somewhere special. You don't," Mrs. Clutterfield pointed out, "wear a new hat if it looks as stormy out as it began to when she left!"

"I don't know," Asey said slowly, "why your guess as to what Miss Olive done ain't as good as mine, or anybody else's. Whereabouts in Sketticket is this White Horse place? I don't seem to remember anythin' of that name."

"It used to be the Casa Valencia," Mrs. Clutterfield said, "until about a month ago. Then it got all done over and became the White Horse Grill—"

"Whoa!" Asey said. "That's on the road to Provincetown! I wonder, now! I wonder if—golly, I'm torn! I ought to get back to the inn, but if Jennie an' I see the real Miss Olive, that's the way. She was headin' from the four corners. I wonder if the place's open all night, like the Valencia used to be?"

"I think so. Shall we go there?"

"I'm dyin'," Mrs. Clutterfield said, "to try the new highball! We just simply ought to float!"

She floated at such a pace that Asey cautioned her gently.

"The cops don't often stop this car, but—uh—it's still foggy. Ease her off a bit."

"O, think," Mrs. Clutterfield said, "that Alfred always considered forty-five going fast! Mr. Mayo, they're still open at the White Horse. See the lights?"

"Pull in," Asey said. "I'll go in an' ask. Never any harm in askin'."

He didn't think she noticed that he removed the ignition key as he stepped out of the car, but she commented on the fact in a hurt voice as he closed the door.

"You don't trust me, Mr. Mayo!"

"No, ma'am," Asey said. "Not on a sixlane highway! I probably won't be two shakes in here—"

But a half hour passed before he emerged, and his face, as he got into the roadster, was a study.

"Whatever's the matter, Mr. Mayo?" Mrs. Clutterfield said. "You look just the way I feel when I try to solve the daily mystery cartoon."

"Uh-huh, she was Mrs. Clutterfield, I wish you'd explain something to me. Why is it that each additional thing I find out, that ought by rights to make things that much easier, only bails things up all the more?"

"Exactly!" Mrs. Clutterfield nodded her head enthusiastically. "That's exactly the way I feel about the daily mystery cartoon! She went to see Bram Reid didn't she?"

"Uh-huh, Horace was waitin' for her. They talked together a minute an' then sat down. Horace got up an' made a phone call. While he was gone Bram Reid came. The three of 'em had dinner together, an'—"

ERIE MUSICIAN AND HOTEL MAN DIES SATURDAY

John F. Knoll, proprietor of the nationally-known Knoll's Hotel at Harborcreek and synonymous with Erie music at its best until his retirement as a professional bandman and instructor 15 years ago, died at 6 p. m. Saturday at his home after three weeks illness.

The son of Anthony Knoll, German immigrant, and Erie's first bandmaster, John was born in that city, one of ten children, all talented musically.

From boyhood he gained a reputation as a cornetist, playing theatre and summer engagements in Pittsburgh, Atlantic City, Jacksonville, Saratoga Springs, conducting orchestras in the old Park and Majestic theatres in Erie; achieving fame with the famous John Phillip Sousa and Ringling Bros. bands; one of the organizers and teachers of the Erie Moose Band. He also conducted a studio instructing in all band instruments.

Mr. Knoll opened the Knoll Hotel in 1908 and operated it continuously, except for a brief period when he leased it and ran a similar business in Girard.

Surviving him are his wife, Laura B. Shreve Knoll, native of Union City, whom he married 26 years ago; two sisters, Miss Ida Knoll and Mrs. Rose Schaal, both of Erie, and a brother, Martin, San Diego, Calif. An only son, Kenneth J. Knoll, of Warren, preceded him in death.

Funeral services will be held on Tuesday at 2 p. m. from the Schaal Funeral Home in Erie. Burial will be private.

WARREN WOMAN HURT IN CRASH AT JAMESTOWN

Mrs. Victoria Lindgren, 20, of 508 East street, is in the Hamot Hospital in Erie for treatment of a fractured left shoulder, sustained last Thursday night when a car operated by her husband, Ralph Lindgren, figured in an accident at Jamestown, N. Y.

Besides the fractured shoulder, Mrs. Lindgren has lacerations over the right eye and under the left eye and bruises about the body. Her husband escaped with minor bruises.

Also injured in the accident was Margaret Kelvaski, 17, of Jamestown, who sustained a large forehead bruise. She was treated at a Jamestown hospital.

According to reports, the accident occurred when Lindgren, driving west on Eighth street in Jamestown, failed to observe a stop sign at Washington street, which was obscured by a parked car. The second vehicle, driven by Carl E. Swanson, Jr., of Jamestown, struck Lindgren's car and continued across the street, striking the Strandburg Market and breaking a large window.

Camillo Presogna, 67, of Erie, died last night in an Erie hospital of injuries received Christmas Eve when he was struck by an automobile. It was the city's 23rd traffic fatality of the year. Fourteen persons were injured in and around Erie over the weekend as streets and highways were glazed with ice.

FIRE CALLS
The fire department was called out twice this morning, the first time at 10:20 to extinguish a chimney fire at the home of Felix Graziano, Spring street, and the second to put out an attic blaze in a house near the White House Inn, Conewango avenue extension, which is owned by Denny DiPietro and occupied by Larry Lundberg. On Saturday evening the department was called to the Seneca plant of the United Refining Company by a flash back of valves at a still.

HEAD INJURIES ARE FATAL TO N. WARREN MAN

Paul Moravsek, 60, of North Warren, passed away at the Warren General Hospital this morning at 6:30 o'clock from injuries received in an unknown manner last week. Moravsek was found in an unconscious condition in a barn at the Warren State Hospital early Wednesday morning and was brought to the hospital here.

Coroner Ed C. Lowrey ordered an autopsy which was performed this morning. Although the full report of the autopsy has not been revealed it was definitely established that Moravsek had sustained a fractured skull.

Deputy Sheriff L. E. Linder, State Motor Policeman K. W. Leeper and the coroner are continuing their investigation in an effort to learn how his injuries were received.

The deceased was born in Czechoslovakia October 24, 1882, and came to this country in 1913. He had been a farmer in Conewango township since 1922. Surviving are two brothers John Moravsek, of Warren, and Joe Moravsek, of Czechoslovakia. His wife, Susanna Moravsek, preceded him in death.

Funeral services in his memory will be held from the Lutz Funeral Home Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be in Oakland cemetery.

NORTH WARREN MAN IS FOUND DEAD IN HOME

M. Clinton Hays, 69, one of the best known residents of North Warren, was found dead on the floor of the kitchen of his home at 8 North State street about 9:30 o'clock Sunday morning when a neighbor, William Hutcheson, went to the home when he became alarmed over the fact that Mr. Hays had not been seen since early Saturday afternoon.

A physician who was called informed Coroner Lowrey that death apparently occurred Saturday afternoon.

The position of the body, which was lying prone on the floor with the face resting on the hands, indicated that Mr. Hays probably was taken ill while in the kitchen and collapsed before he could reach a bedroom. A heart ailment was given as the cause of death.

The coroner was informed that Mr. Hays had been seen in the back yard of his home chopping wood shortly before noon Saturday, and about two o'clock he visited the business section of North Warren. It is believed that death occurred between two and three o'clock.

Mr. Hays was born in Townville, Crawford county, in 1872, but had lived in North Warren for nearly fifty years. He was employed at the Warren State Hospital, where in later years, until his retirement, he had charge of the storeroom. His wife died about three years ago, since which time he had resided alone.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Anna Pratt, and two grandchildren, of Mercer; a brother, Sherman Hays, and a sister, Mrs. Alice Smith, both of Erie.

He was a member of the First Baptist church and an honorary member of the board of deacons of that church.

Friends may call at the home in North Warren until eleven o'clock tomorrow morning, at which time services in his memory will be held with Rev. James A. Davidson officiating. Further services will be held from the Arnold Funeral Home in Townville tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Interment will be made at Townville.

SUMMERLESS YEAR

COUNTY SCHOOL TEACHERS ARE AT CONVENTION

Warren borough and county educators are among those from the entire state attending the annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Education Association, which opened today in Harrisburg. Those attending as representatives of the Warren borough P. S. E. A. branch are James Springer and Miss Gunevere Knapp. Representatives of the county branch are D. J. Howard, of Sheffield, and Clair Cowles, of Lottsville. Also attending the sessions are John G. Rossman, superintendent of the Warren borough schools, and H. L. Blair, county school superintendent.

In opening the convention today President Dr. Levi Gilbert told the delegates that the war means the revamping of school curricula, putting into practice courses applying to defense of the nation.

The annual program of the association carries the slogan, "America Must Be Strong." Dean Harold Benjamin, of the University of

Maryland College of Education, keynotes the meeting Tuesday with an address on "America Must Be Strong—And Smart, Too, if Possible." Lt. Col. George R. Hutchinson, of Tuxton, Md., recently engaged in ferrying bombers to England, speaks the next day on "It Can Happen Here."

CORRY ACCIDENT

Three cars were damaged but no one was hurt in a crash which occurred early Saturday morning in Corry. A car owned by Cleo Haeft and driven by his brother, John F. Haeft, both of Grand Valley, was being driven east on Main street when the operator was blinded by lights of an approaching car. His automobile first crashing into a parked car owned by Clifford Carroll, and hitting the approach, the machine reported to have been driven by George Drobneck.

Chapter 33

Miss Olive's "Crush"

"THERE'S writing on the back of the picture," Mrs. Thorne said. "See, it says, 'Henry with Lucky and Juanita.' It is peculiar, now you speak of it. I thought he looked like a minister but I never connected him with that exhibition. He must have been a most unusual man, that Ferdinand."

"That who?" Asey stared at her.

"Ferdinand?"

"Who in time was he?"

"He was the photographer in—well, it would be Quisset now, but in those days it was Pocket. Just think it never occurred to me when Ann showed me this, but it is one of Ferdinand's pictures. Those jardinières of grass, and that spiked iron railing are in every family picture for miles around. Ferdinand must have taken pictures of half the Cape. And what amazes me, Mrs. Thorne added, "isn't just the way his pictures are—they never faded out white, like some—but the way people kept his pictures. I suppose that's why, though they kept, and so people kept them."

"Looky here," Asey said, "Ann Joyce wasn't a Cape Coddier, was she? Was her folks Cape Coddier?"

"Her folks are dead," Mrs. Thorne said. "She's an orphan. I don't think she has any family at all, except this cousin on her mother's side who died. And I'm sure she told me she was born in New York state. She lives in New York now. Of course, Cape Codders spread out, but people always know if they do come from the Cape—are you going to take that picture with you?"

"Uh-huh, I wonder," Asey said, "where are those pictures now that Mr. Philpotts had in his exhibition?"

"Why, he just borrowed them from people," Mrs. Thorne said. "I suppose he gave them back afterwards—is this important, this picture? Is it a clew?"

"I don't know," Asey told her honestly, "if it's a clew, or just a sort of puzzle. If this fellow with the whiskers really was a minister, then most likely this picture don't mean much. You know, whenever ministers left a church, they used to give everybody a picture of themselves—we got a raft of ministers at home in albums. On the other hand, it's sort of an odd coincidence to have this picture turn up here now, considerin'! Huh. Did the girl mention any new play she wanted to be in?"

"No, she didn't say much about her work. But she seemed kind of excited these last couple of days," Mrs. Thorne said. "I told those troopers so. And I told them that she hadn't any fights or quarrels with anyone, nor any enemy in the world. She was a nice girl! As nice a girl—"

"Uh-huh, Mrs. Hingham," Asey said hurriedly before Mrs. Thorne had a chance to launch into any recital of Ann's sterling virtues. "She told me as much just a little while ago. I'm gone along now, but if you remember anything about this picture, like who Old Whiskers is, I wish you'd contrive to let me know."

"Angie Harris's mother could probably tell you. She's ninety-five," Mrs. Thorne said, "and remembers everything. Particularly about ministers. She told Mr. Philpotts lots of things."

"Thanks," Asey said. "I think I'll look into her tomorrow."

Mrs. Clutterfield thinks HE returned to the roadster, where Mrs. Clutterfield greeted him with an arch salute.

"Where to, sir?" she asked brightly.

Asey frowned. "I'm torn," he said. "I got this yen to tear a ninety-five-year-old woman out of her bed at what time is it, quarter to two? An' at the same time I want to see this Bram Reid, an' I want to see this Horace Huh. I guess I better see him first. Back to the inn, please. Tell me, you happen to know Horace's last name?"

"His last name?" Like everyone else, Mrs. Clutterfield seemed dumfounded at the suggestion that Horace might possess a last name. "Why, Hingham, of course! Oh, no, it couldn't be Hingham, could it? Isn't that strange, I can't remember!"

"Neither can anyone else," Asey said. "What's Horace like, that people remember only half of him?"

"Why, you saw him," Mrs. Clutterfield said. "He must have passed by you when you went into the Theater to see Mrs. Hingham. He had on shorts and a blazer."

"What! Shorts on a blazer? That fellow? If I was driven," Asey said, "I'd be struggling in a ditch this instant! You mean that blonde youth? Him? He couldn't have been more than twenty!"

buy cigarettes with. He often borrows money from Alfred—really. I've often thought that if Mrs. Hingham were as fond of Horace as she seems, she should really make him a small allowance. Just so he would have a little pocket money. Mr. Mayo."

"Uh-huh," Asey said. "Good drivers watch the road."

"Mr. Mayo," Mrs. Clutterfield spoke to the windshield wiper. "Of course I can't solve those little daily mystery cartoons but, you know, a little bird has just told me where Miss Olive went!"

"Where?"

"You know," Mrs. Clutterfield said coyly. "I think Miss Olive has a crush on Bram Reid! I do I mean it! She doesn't often talk to people, but last week she and I were both sitting out on the lawn just after Bram had left with Horace, and I said wasn't he still marvelous looking. And you know what? She unbent! Actually—"

"The road," Asey said, "Don't get so worked up that you forget the road, now!"

"I'm sorry. But she confessed she'd seen everyone of Bram Reid's pictures, and some of them four or five times! I gathered she was dying to meet him and talk with him, but she was too shy just to walk up and speak to him. She's awfully shy, really. And when Freddy said tonight—she was talking to that police lieutenant and giving him a description of what Miss Olive was wearing this afternoon—when she said Miss Olive wore a gray hat with a feather, I almost spoke up then."

"In short where do you think Miss Olive went tonight?"

The Trail

"TO the White Horse Grill. You see, while we were talking about Bram Reid, she and I suggested that if she ever wanted to see him, she had only to go to the White Horse Grill. Horace told me Bram Reid always has dinner there. Now, Mr. Mayo, I can't even do those little mystery cartoons, but I've been wondering if maybe it couldn't be something as simple as that? She just went to see Bram Reid!"

"You suggestin' she eloped with him after dinner?" Asey inquired dryly.

"No, indeed! Only, because she was wearing that new hat. I decided she must be going somewhere special. You don't," Mrs. Clutterfield pointed out, "wear a new hat if it looks as stormy out as it began to when she left!"

"I don't know," Asey said slowly, "why your guess as to what Miss Olive done ain't as good as mine, or anybody else's. Whereabouts in Sketucket is this White Horse place? I don't seem to remember anythin' of that name."

"It used to be the Casa Valencia," Mrs. Clutterfield said, "until about a month ago. Then it got all done over and became the White Horse Grill."

"Whoa!" Asey said. "That's on the road to Provincetown! I wonder, now I wonder if—golly, I'm torn! I ought to get back to the inn, but I can't. I seen the real Miss Olive, that's the way she was headin' from the four corners. I wonder if the place's open all night, like the Valencia used to be?"

"I think so. Shall we go there?"

"I'm dying," Mrs. Clutterfield said, "to try the new highway! We just simply ought to float!"

"She floated at such a pace that Asey cautioned her gently. 'The cops don't even stop this car, but—uh—it's still foggy. Ease her off a bit!'"

"To think," Mrs. Clutterfield said, "that Alfred always considered forty-five going fast! Mr. Mayo, they're still open at the White Horse. See the lights?"

"Full in," Asey said. "I'll go in an' ask. Never any harm in askin'."

He didn't think she noticed that he removed the ignition key as he stepped out of the car, but she commented on the fact in a hurt voice as he closed the door.

"You don't trust me, Mr. Mayo!"

"No, ma'am," Asey said. "Not on a six-lane highway! I probably would be two snakes in here—"

But a half hour passed before he emerged, and his face as he got into the roadster, was a study.

"Whatever the matter, Mr. Mayo?" Mrs. Clutterfield said. "You look just the way I feel when I try to solve the daily mystery cartoon. Was she there?"

"Uh-huh, she was Mrs. Clutterfield, I wish you'd explain something to me. Why is it that each additional thing I find out, that ought by rights to make things that much easier, only balls things up all the more?"

"Exactly!" Mrs. Clutterfield nodded her head enthusiastically. "That's exactly the way I feel about the daily mystery cartoon! She went to see Bram Reid didn't she?"

"Uh-huh. Horace was waiting for her. They talked together a minute an' then sat down. Horace got up an' made a phone call! While he was on 'a Bram Reid' come. The three of 'em had dinner together, an'—"

prises when he told the good congressmen there wasn't any difference between OPM and SPAB, the Supply Priorities and Allocations Board. SPAB made the policies, but after all it was Knudsen and the Hillman who made the decisions. SPAB, you may recall, was the rabbit pulled out of the hat in the OPM September reorganization sponsored by Judge Samuel Rosenman, presidential adviser and confidante. SPAB was the outfit that was going to solve everything. And now Knudsen lifts the veil to disclose that SPAB and OPM are just the same.

The creation of SPAB followed the usual Washington pattern of trying to do something about a situation when things go wrong. To correct the evils of bureaucracy give 'em another bureau. It might happen again.

AFTER PRODUCTION COST DATA

Oil producers from Bolivar to Butler have received production cost forms from the United States Tariff Commission which are to be returned to Washington on or before January 31, 1942.

Local leaders in the industry believe that it is essential that all producers send this production cost data to the government in order that the future price paid for Pennsylvania crude oil may be adequate.

Leon Henderson, the national price administrator, has stated that he will base his crude price ceilings on the findings of the tariff commission.

Three accountants of the tariff commission have been detailed to the duty of aiding oil producers in compiling these questionnaires. They are James V. Brown, formerly accountant for the Healey Petroleum Co., of Bradford, who himself has been a Pennsylvania crude producer for fourteen years; Robert H. McChesney, formerly with the Valvoline Oil Co., and Miller Griggs, until recently on the accounting staff of Sloan & Zook.

Headquarters of these accountants of the tariff commission who are in the section to assist producers, are at the offices of the Bradford District Oil Producers' Association in Bradford, and at the offices of the Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Association in Oil City, where they can be reached by mail or telephone.

As stated in Saturday's issue Mr. Griggs will be at the office of the Clinger Oil & Gas Co., in Tidoute tomorrow, after having been in Clarendon and Sheffield today.

DON'T WORRY ABOUT ARMY MAIL

Many parents and relatives of soldiers and sailors worry unnecessarily about delays in delivery of their letters to the men in the armed forces, or about delays in getting replies.

There are many factors which often hold up this correspondence. Many soldiers are on special duty watching bridges, factories or other vital defense spots.
That means that letters addressed to them at camp have to be rehandled and forwarded. In such a situation, the soldier or sailor may find himself without writing paper or stamps for a reply. So it isn't a bad plan to enclose postage and writing material for an answer
when you write to that boy in the service.

Be patient about unavoidable delays, and don't let them prey on you or cause unnecessary worry.

UNEMPLOYMENT VANISHES

For 10 years, one great looming problem has overhung the United States like a blanketing gray sky—unemployment.

Now it has vanished, a mist suddenly dissipated by the sharp winds of war. The National Industrial Conference Board places unemployment at around 1,600-000, which it considers the "irreducible minimum."

With the Army and Navy about to expand tremendously we may soon be face to face with an actual labor shortage. It means more women in industry, more older men called back to jobs they thought they had left forever. A single thought of four or five million more men called from bench and desk to camp and ship is enough to show very clearly what we are up against,
and what it will take to meet the test.

The Red Cross has already done a great job in Hawaii and the Philippines; it is ready to function in other sectors. Before the year's end, send a check to the local chapter — help, as best you can, toward that 50 million dollar war fund.

North Warren, mourning the loss of seven beloved citizens in recent weeks, had the holiday season further darkened by the sudden and unexpected passing of Clint Hays some time Saturday afternoon.

Don't forget to save your trees and other Christmas greens for the Girl Scout Twelfth Night exercises

Times-Mirror carriers are doing a good job in helping Uncle Sam win the war through the sale of United

EDSON'S
WASHINGTON
COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON
Times-Mirror Washington Correspondent

Washington, Dec. 29—Your nation's capital—the big hunk of it that isn't concerned exclusively with what's going on in the Pacific—is all hot and bothered again about reorganizing the war production machinery.

This is only about the fourth time the question has been rampant on the District of Columbia debating grounds during the year just drawing to its close. Such repetition might make the story an old and dull one if it were not so important, but with all the theorists and politicians screaming for more production and faster production, Washington is again full of suggestions that something will have to be done and something will be done to speed up the war manufacturing effort.

The idea heard most often now is that what this country needs is a Ministry of Supply.

That, also, is not new. The idea has been bandied about all year, and while men high in the Office of Production Management admit that it would be dandy if all government procurement agencies—
Army, Navy, treasury, agriculture and lease-lend administration—were under one boss and under one roof, no less an authority on buying than Douglas C. MacKeachie, director of purchases in OPM, has pointed out that to stop now and try to organize a ministry of supply might be fatal.

The problem therefore seems to be one of taking the existing machinery and making it work.

Some of the specific charges now tossed around have a familiar ring to them.

There is no one boss of production.

There is no one boss for contract letting.

The small business man still isn't getting his share.

The separate departments of OPM act without consulting each other, duplicate each other's research and order.

The auto industry has not been converted to defense production fast enough.

Labor tops this off with its demand for a voice in management to speed the pooling of idle machine use.

And just to add to the confusion there are the contrary claims that conversion of industry to war production has gone too fast, throwing too many people in civilian jobs industries out of employment before war industry jobs were ready for them. Over 200,000 auto workers in Michigan, for instance, face the loss of their jobs in January by production cuts.

Just before Christmas, the Tolan Committee of the House, studying defense migration, held hearings in an effort to determine what was wrong. Testimony was given by Judge Robert P. Patterson, undersecretary of war; William S.
Knudsen, head of OPM; W. H.
Harrison, head of the production division of OPM; Walter H. Wheeler of the Contract Distribution Service in OPM; R. J. Thomas, head of the C. I. O. Auto Workers' Union; representatives from the governor of the state of Michigan; representatives from four leading auto manufacturers, and others.

When they all got through testifying, the committee still didn't have the answer of what was wrong with war production. Everybody admitted that production wasn't as good as they wished it might be. Everybody denied that war production thus far had failed.

Judge Patterson, questioned by Committee Counsel Robert K.
Lamb about too much decentralization, agreed that there was too much decentralization. Patterson pointed to the Industrial Mobiliza-

STORIES
IN STAMPSMexican Stamp Honors
Athletic Competition

WORLD WAR has no room for sportsmanship and the Olympic games, typical of the athletic rivalry of nations at peace, are indefinitely suspended. Mexico's youth, however, finds time to play.
The stamp above, issued in 1941, honors the athletic display in the Mexican capital from Nov.
4 to Nov. 20 and commemorates the Mexican revolution of 1910 which unseated the unpopular Diaz.

Diaz was president for almost 30 years and ruled with an iron fist. In 1908 Francisco I. Madero was nominated by the anti-reelectionists, but arrested for sedition in June, 1910. Escaping to Texas, he issued a plan for agrarian reforms in addition to political reforms, and the aspect of the revolution was changed from a political one to a social one.

The proposed revisions in the agrarian setup caught the fancy of the peasants and they elected Madero president on his return to Mexico.

Madero's tenure of office was brief, however, and he gave way to Huerta.

CRANIUM CRACKERS

U. S.-JAP RELATIONS

Now that Japan has attacked the United States, all citizens will want to know more about the relations of the two countries which have always been at peace with each other until the unprovoked assault upon Hawaii. These questions should refresh your memory.

1. What American naval officer opened Japan for trade with other nations, and when?
2. With what country did Japan fight a successful war in 1904-05, during which time Japanese war bonds were floated in the United States?
3. When and against whom did the United States and Japan ally themselves in war?
4. What treaty did the United States and Japan sign agreeing to end the naval building race?
When did Japan renounce the treaty?
5. What single act of Japan in 1937 greatly increased tension between the two nations?

A WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By Jack Stinnett

WASHINGTON—The capital in wartime:

The first days of the war saw record after record fall in the District of Columbia marriage license bureau. One day, 119 licenses were taken out, 31
more than ever before recorded.
The one that attracted most attention was that of Baron Ulrich
Friedrich von Glenard to wed
Austrian Baroness Karin von Veitlinghoff-Riesch. A second secretary at the German embassy, the baron goes home to resume his command in Hitler's elite guard.

Maryland has started it around here and the District and other states, it is predicted, won't be far behind—using those 1941 automobile plates from now on until there no longer is any need to conserve metals. Instead of new plates, Maryland will issue little lock-over strips saying, 1942.

THE war has caused all sorts of little panics. The District civilian defense director, Col. Lemuel Bolles, had to jump into the middle of two the other day. Capitalites had started runs on black cloth for use in blackouts, and adhesive tape to interlace house and shop windows to prevent breakage in air raids. The director made appeals to stop buying, saying both products were needed badly "for defense. That must have been what Washingtonians thought, too. At last report, the runs still were going strong.

Listening attentively to an air raid warden outlining instructions at a meeting in a schoolhouse on Kalorama Road the other night were Chief Justice of the United States and Mrs.
Harlan Fiske Stone.

At the same air raid sessions was Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, who presided in the White House in another war when death from the sky on cities far behind the lines was only something the Zeppelin boys dreamed up to scare the folks at home.

COMMENT at the National Press club: "Well, times do change.
I've only been here a few years but I can remember when some of the most sought-after invitations around here were to those hierabends at Kurt Sell's (German newspaperman) where every one sat around and drank beer and kummel and sang 'Schmitzelbank' and to Kato's (Japanese correspondent) where you got real suki yaki."

Local police, Better Business bureau and defense officials are scampering all over town trying to catch the racketeers who are picking up dollars in a phoney drive for "District Defense Council funds." It's the old telephone racket. A smooth voice calls, makes a great high-pressure plea, gets a promise and sends around a collector. BBB officials say it probably is being worked all over the country.

For the first time since flood-lighting was introduced here, the Capitol dome, the Washington Monument, the Lincoln Memorial and the White House spend their nights in darkness.

Over at OPM, housed in the new Social Security building, the cafeteria keeps open around the clock, serving a full-course dinner in the evening and a midnight supper from 12 to 2 a.m. Other defense agency caterers are making plans to follow suit as working shifts are staggered through the night.

OPM Chief William Knudsen holds his staff conferences at 8 o'clock in the morning. A year and a half ago, Washington never stirred before 9 a.m.

The British agencies here and a good many of our own government departments are installing air raid alarms in their buildings —like the old fire bells that used to clang out for fire drills in the schools.

Twenty-one members of the House District committee, headed by Rep. Jennings Randolph, chairman, have been sworn in as members of the District's special wartime police force.

COMPLETE FIRST MILLION MILES OF MAIL PICKUP

Completing its first million miles of the airmail pickup service, All American Aviation, Inc., announces that the feat was accomplished without "serious mishap to personnel, equipment or cargo." Warren has been served by the air mail pickup company since it inaugurated this service.

Air mail pickup was established in August, 1940, by the civil aeronautics board as a permanent part of the nation's airline system. It embraces five routes covering 112 cities in Pennsylvania, Delaware, New York, West Virginia, Kentucky and Ohio. The service collects and delivers mail and express by airplane non-stop.

During the period of its operation, the service made 50,783 pickups and deliveries and transported 207,000 pounds of airmail.

HEAVY MAIL AT P. O. HERE OVER HOLIDAY PERIOD

Christmas business at the Warren post office this year was the second largest in the history of the office, being exceeded only by the holiday season of 1926, it was disclosed today by Postmaster James K. Bell.

Cancellations of mail for the 10 days prior to Christmas totaled 420,344, an increase of about 20,000 over the same period of 1940. Postal receipts to December 24 showed a substantial increase over last year.

Postmaster Bell said that on Wednesday, December 24th, all mail which arrived at the post office by 1:00 p. m. was delivered during the afternoon. A clean-up of other mail was made on Christmas day.

He stated that there was an

County Tire Rationing Boards To Hold Organization Meeting

Members of Warren county's tire rationing boards, appointed to supervise the sale of automobile tires here, will hold their first meeting tomorrow in the Warren National Bank building, at which time they will organize and discuss information received on the program, due to go into operation January 5.

On the county board, which will act as an appeal body, are George E. Cowden, chairman; E. H. Ley and W. E. Lutz. Members of Local Board No. 1 are A. W. Goal, Clarendon; Marshall Parshall and Harold Putnam, of Warren. On Local Board No. 2 are W. C. Tompsett, Tidioute; C. R. McNeal, Sheffield, and Warren Kay, Youngsville. Territory to be covered by the local boards parallels that of the Selective Service boards.

Under the regulations set up by Price Administrator Leon Henderson, only car owners who can get new tires are those whose vehicles are essential to services for health, safety and industrial and commercial operations of a limited nature. These are:

1. Physicians, surgeons, visiting nurses, veterinarians.
  2. Ambulances.
  3. Fire fighting equipment, police vehicles, garbage removal trucks and mail delivery cars.
  4. Public service vehicles with a capacity of 10 or more passengers on regular transportation routes, school buses or cars to carry workers to and from industrial plants.
  5. Trucks for ice and fuel delivery, road maintenance, public utilities facilities, essential repair services, waste and scrap dealers, common carriers and transportation for raw materials, semi-finished or finished goods which are not moving directly to the household for ultimate consumers' use.
  6. Farm tractors or other implements, except trucks or pleasure cars.

Thank You!

Just before Christmas, we asked you to confine your Christmas greetings, particularly by Long Distance, to the absolute minimum "to make way for the armed forces." We deeply appreciate your response to this appeal.

Thanks, in no small measure, to your cooperation, most of the thousands of long distance calls on Christmas Eve and Christmas day went through promptly. And where there were delays, they were, almost without exception, recognized as unavoidable.

Thanks, from all of us, for your help!

Annual New Year's Party At Country Club Is Planned

The annual New Year's Eve party for members of the Conewago Valley Country Club promises to be one of the most successful ever held by the organization. It was renovated today by Mrs. J. L. Connelly, chairman of the committee in charge.

Tickets for the event are now on sale and members of the committee are contacting the club members. They expect to complete this task tomorrow. Any who are missed by the committee may call Mrs. Connelly, 317-M, or the clubhouse.

Decorations for the occasion are in charge of Hail Schmidt Jr., who promises a big surprise for all who attend the party.

The program for the party includes dinner at nine followed by dancing to the music of Wilbur Bidou's 13-piece band.

Redistricting Proposal Meets New Obstacles

Joint committee's proposal "and most heartily endorse it as the best solution possible which will make certain of reapportionment."

Meyers said the crisis in which the country now finds itself makes reapportionment even more important and that to properly assure representatives of the various sections "we must have district reorganization and avoid the dangers of election at large."

The Pennsylvania delegation must be cut from 34 to 33 under the 1940 census. After the legislature deadlocked on the matter, its bipartisan committee worked months before deciding Republican and Democratic party leaders should eliminate one of their districts each and allow one congressman to run at large.

Election of the entire 33 congressmen on a statewide basis is the alternative next year unless a reapportionment law is enacted. Politicians say such an election might result in hundreds of candidates with heavily populated metropolitan centers and possibly one party claiming all the seats.

Party officials have said present plans call for Republicans to resuffrage the northern tier districts and eliminate the 15th with Democrats cutting out one by adding part of Allegheny county to Washington county to form one district and combining Greene county with Somerset and Fayette counties.

"The issue is in doubt," read the latest dispatch sent on Dec. 22. Attack after attack was hurled back. Beset by 200 planes during those 14 days, the little garrison, knowing there could be no reinforcements from Hawaii 2,500 miles away, loosed such deadly fire that the Japanese had to abandon low-flying assaults for a time.

The navy's account, pieced from the dispatches, laid bare a gripping struggle:

Dec. 8—Between 20 and 30 twin-engine bombers in the opening attack caught eight of the garrison's 12 planes on the ground, but the eight out of action killed 25 of the marines.

Dec. 9—There were two more raids by planes which also carried incendiaries but "due to vigorous plane and anti-aircraft defenses, damage was less severe than on Dec. 8."

Dec. 10—There was a fourth air raid at dawn while for the first time enemy warships "started pumping shells onto the flat, virtually shelterless atoll. Nevertheless Wake's guns replied with such good effect to this double attack that a light cruiser and destroyer were sunk. The defenders also had the satisfaction of challenging up a total of six enemy planes destroyed to an including this third day of battle."

"The effectiveness of the Wake shot batteries...evidently impressed the enemy." Two transports, escorted by cruisers and destroyers, kept out of range and made no attempt to land while 18 planes came over for the fifth air raid, only 15 departed. The marines still had three planes aloft.

Dec. 11—A four-engine sea-plane attacked. "Marine fliers were ready for it and promptly shot it down." The convoy reappeared. Marine fliers damaged one vessel and sank a submarine.

Dec. 12—"The enemy did not appear."

Dec. 13—By moonlight, four-engine bombers came over. Anti-aircraft fire discouraged them from dropping bombs.

Dec. 14—Fifty bombers unleashed the heaviest air raid. "Anti-aircraft and planes brought down three and damaged several others." The marines three planes were reduced to one—but during the brief night hours they managed heroically to patch a second one together.

Dec. 15—"At night a ninth air raid caused 'no serious damage.'"

Dec. 16—More than 25 bombers attacked.

Dec. 17—"They came back again 'By now practically every installation on the island was heavily damaged. The storehouse with light heating oil and other material, gone, burned to the ground. The machine shop and blacksmith shop were wiped out."

Dec. 18—Two-engine bombers devastated the few buildings left standing.

Dec. 19—"There was no raid."

Dec. 20—"Five bombers, evidently from a carrier, roared down on the dwindling group of marines."

Dec. 21—"The enemy withheld his hand."

Dec. 22—"Land-based and carrier-operated planes attacked in large force—how large was never reported." Wake's two planes gave battle. "Several enemy planes were shot down but one of the Wake pilots was lost and the second forced down, wounded. Wake's air defenses were lost. The enemy at long last landed in force. There came finally what the navy praised as 'a bit of understatement'—

"The issue is in doubt."

Even that last dispatch made clear the marines were in there and fighting. It told of the disabling of two Japanese destroyers.

Fuel Situation May Be Relieved By Ban On Tires

direct consumer rationing of motor fuel in event the war effort takes up the extensive transportation facilities used to distribute some 7,200,000,000 gallons of gasoline annually throughout the country.

At the direction of Secretary of Interior Ickes, the petroleum coordinator, a consumer gasoline rationing system has been prepared for use if an emergency demands such action. Its details have not been disclosed.

The petroleum coordination office has become particularly alert to the transportation of oil since the United States entered the war in view of a possibility a substantial portion of the great fleet of oil tankers now supplying the coastal areas might be needed to fuel the forces fighting in the Pacific.

Petroleum supply in the United States, which possesses great resources of oil is principally a matter of transportation.

As to the east coast supply situation, the petroleum coordination office said stocks on December 20 amounted to 61,564,000 barrels (including crude oil, gasoline, light heating oil and heavy fuel oil) or 6,886,000 barrels above the same date last year.

Freighters Are Sunk In Pacific By Axis U-Boats

survivors were brought to Pearl Harbor.

Boatswain Olin Jewett of the Mannu said yesterday he thought the other 21 crewmen of the Mannu got away safely in another lifeboat, but they yet were unaccounted for.

Survivors of the Prusa said none aboard then vessel were killed when the torpedo struck the crew's sleeping quarters. They saw Captain G. H. Boy and 11 others in a lifeboat immediately after the torpedoing but had not seen them since.

Jewett, a native of Portland, Ore., said lifeboats had been provisioned with fruit, fruit juices and sardines the day before his ship was attacked and they did not suffer from lack of food. Sea water kept them wet all the time, however. At night they suffered from cold and by day from sunburn.

On the fourth day, planes flew over and dropped food and water. None of the survivors was seriously hurt.

Lightning Jab Made In Norway

British showed how they had developed a lightning hit-run technique to expose the Nazis' vast flank on the west.

Reminiscent of the previous British raids on the Lofoten islands and Spitzbergen, British army, naval and air forces made a concerted stab Saturday on the small Norwegian island of Vaagso, 100 miles north of Bergen.

A communique, disclosing details, said eight ships totalling 13,650 tons, oil tanks, ammunition stores and a Quiesing-owned factory were destroyed and the entire German garrison captured or killed.

In Libya, the advancing British pressed the fleeing Axis forces still farther west, but their pace seemed to have slackened and Rome and Berlin, for the first time in recent days, claimed to have scored telling counter-blows.

Both said 58 British tanks and armored cars were destroyed in a repulsed British thrust south of Agadaba and the Fascist communique declared a heavy British cruiser and two torpedo boats were hit with aerial torpedoes in an attack on a British naval formation in the eastern Mediterranean.

Illinois Mine Explosion Takes Lives Of Eight

trembling hands along an entry track as they crawled toward the shaft. Night Superintendent Henry Dempsey found them near the shaft as he investigated a dead power circuit.

The cause of the explosion was not announced by officials, but apparently marsh gas or methane seeped through into the main entry from some abandoned workings and ignited.

After a jury viewed the seven bodies, Coroner Earl Thornton set an inquest for Wednesday night.

The boss electrician led the crew early Sunday morning into the mine section which was about to be abandoned, planning to dismantle and remove equipment and wiring.

Miners surmised the work had been finished and the crew was returning to the shaft when gas exploded. The seven bodies were found a mile from the bottom of the 400 foot shaft at the general or room. There was no rock fall at the spot. Only the 10 were in the mine, which is one of the largest in this section of southern Illinois and employs between 400 and 500 men.

That the Dutch communique omitted mention of the air-borne Japanese invasion of Sumatra suggested that the invaders either had been repelled or had failed, at least, to win a secure foothold.

The Japanese themselves admitted that the invasion of Borneo had cost them a destroyer and a minesweeper, but they claimed to

What is BLOOD Pressure?

Broadly speaking, "blood pressure" is the pressure exerted on the walls of the arteries by the blood in its passage to and from the heart. The heart is a valiant little machine, but it would have a job entirely too heavy, unless the blood vessels exerted their muscular and elastic tissue in the propulsion of the blood, to help the heart keep up circulation.

In the maintenance of blood pressure, several factors are concerned. The force and frequency of heart action, the elasticity of the vessel walls, the consistency of the blood itself and the total amount of blood in the body.

As a rule, high blood pressure is caused by intensity of living and long continued emotional disturbances, such as fear, worry, chronic tobacco or alcohol poisoning, and, as Osler says, "the habit of working hard, playing hard, drinking hard, smoking hard, and eventually having hard arteries." High blood pressure has been called "Americanitis" because of the relation to physical and mental strain.

You should not have an obsession about your "blood pressure," neither should you neglect it. High pressure is an effort by the body to overcome a diseased condition. Have your doctor locate the trouble and correct it as far as possible by health habits fit your special needs.

"If there is anything wrong to worry about in your blood pressure after forty it is probably because you neglected it before forty."

PANELLED JUMPER SET FOR GIRLS
PATTERN 4846

By Anne Adams

Is your little girl just at the age when she's hard on clothes? Then make her a sturdy Anne Adams jumper ensemble like Pattern 4846, with its own blouse and cap! For the jumper, either a washable fabric like gingham or a warm plaid woolen would be practical, contrasted with a white cotton blouse. The front-buttoned jumper with its neck-to-hem panels in front and in back is very smart-looking and very easy to sew. A round or V neckline is optional... the little bow on the Peter Pan collar looks attractive with both! Make the blouse with short or long darted sleeves. There are matching darts at the shoulders of the blouse which gives it fullness. A Sewing Instructor is included.

Pattern 4846 is available in girls' sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14. Size 10, jumper and cap, takes 2 1/2 yards 35 inch fabric and blouse, 1 1/4 yards 35 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS and STYLE NUMBERS.

Here comes the Spring Fashion parade, in the new Anne Adams Pattern Book—JUST OUT! Each style is new, smart and easy to make. The latest silhouettes are shown in day and evening modes. There are trim street outfits; smart town-and-country commuters' American-designed prints and cottons; shimmering evening and matron styles. Graduation and wedding gowns. Deb decorations, "small fry" play and party clothes. A bookful of fashion—for FIFTEEN CENTS, PATTERN FIFTEEN CENTS, BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Wedding Of Sugar Grove Couple Is Revealed At Party

Sugar Grove, Dec. 29.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Landis was the scene of a pleasant Christmas party last Wednesday evening when they announced the marriage of their daughter, Gertrude, to Theodore Allenson, of Sugar Grove. The tables were attractively arranged with Christmas decorations. Each guest found under his plate an announcement in the form of a picture of the bride and groom. Guests at the party were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Landis and family, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Landis and family, Mr. and Mrs. Adolphe Hilldale and family, Miss Lillie Landis, all of Sugar Grove, and Miss Alda Hartberg, of Warren. The ceremony was performed in the Free Methodist church at Jamestown, N. Y., on December 17 by the Rev. Fred Hendricks. The bride wore a dress of soldier blue and a corsage of yellow roses. She was attended by her sister, Ruth, who wore a dress of powder blue.

The bride's brother, David Landis, who was home on furlough from Camp Shelby, Mass., acted as best man. The bride's mother and a few intimate friends witnessed the ceremony, which was followed by a luncheon at Gertrude's kitchen.

The bride and groom were graduated from Sugar Grove Vocational School in the same class. The bride was graduated from the Pennsylvania, N. Y., Teachers' Training Class and Education, N. Y., State Normal School. For the past six

Merry Couple Have Marry Christmas

Santa Barbara, Calif., Dec. 29.—A Vanderbilt married the son of an Italian immigrant in the 165-year-old Santa Barbara mission yesterday with movie stars and socialites among the wedding guests.

Today the 17-year-old former Gloria Laura Morgan Vanderbilt—granddaughter of the Cornelius Vanderbilt who founded one of the premier family fortunes in America—was honeymooning with 32-year-old Pasquale (Pat) Di Cicco. They will go to Palm Beach, Fla., and Washington, D. C., they said, and then will settle down in Beverly Hills, where Di Cicco is a film actors' agent.

Di Cicco's father arriving from Italy 55 years ago, prospered as a Long Island truck gardener. Pat went to Hollywood and, in 1932, married actress Thelma Todd. She divorced him in 1934. More than a year later she was found dead in her automobile.

The new Mrs. Di Cicco will inherit $4,000,000—a trust fund from her grandfather—when she becomes 21. Meanwhile she has

The Roman Catholic ceremony was at high noon. Actor Bruce Cabot was best man, and Errol Flynn was an usher. The maid of honor and four bridesmaids were debutante friends of Gloria.

The bride wore a gown of white slipper satin in the style of 1890, with a bustle and a 24-foot bridal veil train, and shoulder-length white gloves.

She was given in marriage by her mother, Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt. The elder Gloria wore the pale gray tulle wedding gown in which she was married in 1923, also at the age of 17, to Reginald Vanderbilt.

After the wedding, the party drove 100 miles to a reception at the Beverly Hills home of Lady Thelma Furness, twin sister of Mrs. Vanderbilt.

Pattersons Play Corry Steel Age on "Y" Court Tonight

Youngsville High and Corry Mix Tuesday Night; Dragons Tackle Falconer on Friday

Basketball fans hungry for an evening of sport to start the week off right, may drop in at the Y. M. C. A. tonight and probably will see one of the fastest games they could hope to watch when the Warren Pattersons tangle with the Corry Steel Age quint in a nine o'clock attraction.

Warmed up for their encounter with the World Champion Detroit Eagles Thursday evening, January 8th, the Pattersons are lining-up a schedule which will include the strongest independent clubs in the area as "sparing partners" to prepare them for a capable showing against the club coached by "Dutch" Dehnert.

The Corry outfit will provide them with plenty of opposition as a starter on the grind which they are building for themselves, and it was rumored today that an all-star cast of ex-high school players including "Elmo" and "Tink" Wolfe, the former home on a full-tough from the army Bob Johnson, Art McKeehan, Willard Zerbe and a few others would like to book a game before the end of the week with the Patterson crew.

Negotiations for the game had not been made when this was written, but it is expected that Manager Louis Gassess, Jr., of the Pattersons, will put his contest on the Patterson card if at all possible. The game probably will be played, if at all, on the "Y" court.

Tomorrow night, sectional fans will have another court treat tossed their direction when Youngsville High school's unbeaten Eagles make their seventh start, playing Corry in a return engagement on the Red and White floor. The charges of Harry Stockdale won over Corry a short time ago by a score of 44-32 and the Beavers will be out to gain vengeance tomorrow evening.

Following these two early week attractions, the cage game will be silent until Friday, night when Warren High meets Falconer and Sheffield goes to Youngsville. These two contests will complete the pre-league schedule for both the Dragons and Joe Massa's Wolverines.

Sheffield and Warren will battle here on Beatty court in the league opener for both schools a week from tomorrow night.

DUKE, OREGON STATE SEEM FIT FOR BOWL GAME

BY SID FEDER
Durham, N. C., Dec. 29.—(P)—The governor of North Carolina may have told the governor of South Carolina the answer, and a couple of hundred thousand Dixie fans probably agree, but to Coach Wallace Wade this is a riddle. Rose Bowl game is all a mystery.

In fact, the slim, soft-spoken Sage of the South wouldn't feel at all hurt if a competent swami gave him the low-down on the collision of his Ducks and Oregon State's Beavers in Duke Stadium Thursday.

To Dixie partisans who figure Duke goes along with death, taxes and fried chicken as sure things, this stand of Coach Wallace is just so much of that stuff you slice thin and put between two pieces of bread, but Wade says the whole picture just doesn't add up.

"I don't see how it can be anything else than a mystery," he pointed out today as the vanguard of a sell-out crowd of 56,000 poured into Tobacco Town. "After all, whatever we know about Oregon State, and whatever they know about us is all second-hand information. We're both playing a guessing game."

Now this is not a crying towel act. Coach Wade just can't make a prediction, although you can plainly see that if his boys don't win this one, he's going to be mighty surprised.

"Yet," he went on, "the Pacific coast champion has beaten the eastern representative in the Rose Bowl three straight years now. And I can't see that there's so much difference this year that they're making us 1 to 3 favorites to change the East's luck x x x."

BRADFORD LOSES ED MOFFATT TILL FEBRUARY; VETERAN SENIOR GUARD QUARANTINED WITH SCARLET FEVER

Just when Coach Harold Brace was positive he had a dream team consisting of veteran performers who last year played on a championship outfit and were expected to go even farther on the road to glory this season, one of the nastiest blows ever delivered by that thing they call fate hit the Beavers on Friday when their veteran senior star, Ed Moffatt, was quarantined in with scarlet fever. Not expected to be ready to join the squad again until February, this leaves the Owls in a serious predicament less than two weeks away from their league opener January 6th. Naturally, this is a break for seven other teams in the Northern League, Class A, of District Nine, but it's never been the style for the other entrants to fall all over themselves to take advantage of some team's hard luck nor will it probably be this time. Of course, it will aid Warren greatly, if they have any possible chance of beating Bradford this year, to battle the Owls without Moffatt in the lineup, but there are any alternative where by he could participate in the games to date this season, as Moffatt has scored 33 points on 11 field goals and as many fouls. But more noticeable has been his outstanding defensive play on the boards and his accurate passing. Brace is undecided as to what his lineup will be now, and will probably take as much time as he possibly can in getting the next best man to fill Moffatt's shoes till the stellar guard can get back in his togs.

Coach "Heggie" Schmidt's Smethport duffers may have been, lost when it came to shooting on Beatty court Friday night, but on defense they exhibited one of the smoothest working zone defenses to be displayed here in quite a spell. Warren's second team, however, didn't know how to break the zone, and made it look that much more effective, but Schmidt had taught his boys how to play it most effectively, and they certainly did that here. Not until the third quarter when little "Leak" Conroy uncorked his popgun for three successive one-hand shots out beyond the foul circle did the Dragons really score effectively, and after he left the game, they never did again. It seemed that for once the short man had the advantage over the taller one, for Conroy lost himself purposely behind the bigger foes, then all of a sudden he would take a pass from a teammate, try a pivot shot from wherever he might be, and only a few times did he miss, for only a few times did he get the opportunity to shoot. In Potter, towering center for Smethport, Coach Schmidt has one of the most valuable board men probably to be found this winter in the McKean County league, in which the Porters are entrants. And Reese, fast and cagey forward, is another star performer that may make the Schmidt charges dangerous once they really get going in loop play.

JOE LOUIS IS Proposed Boost of Age Limit NAMED FIGHTER Of Athletes is Rejected by OF YEAR AGAIN Overwhelming PIAA Vote

New York, Dec. 29.—(P)—Joe Louis, who defends his heavyweight title for the twenty-first time a week from Friday night, is the "fighter of the year," an honor that has been awarded him four times during the past six years.

Louis won by a 5 to 2 margin in the balloting of 203 fight writers from all parts of the world by Ring Magazine.

The same experts placed Buddy Baer, Louis' ponderous opponent in the Naval Relief Society benefit fight in Madison Square Garden on Jan. 9, as the fourth best contender in the heavyweight class.

Billy Conn of Pittsburgh, Lem Franklin of Cleveland and Bob Pastor, Saratoga Springs, N. Y., all were ranked ahead of the younger Baer.

The voters rated the fighters in all the various divisions, placing only Louis and Chalky Wright, featherweight boss, in the championship class.

Four other titleholders—Light Heavyweight Gus Lesnevich, Middleweight Tony Zale, Welterweight Fred Cochrane and Flyweight Jackie Patterson of Scotland—were put at the top of their classes but alongside several challengers.

In the lightweight and bantamweight divisions, the champions didn't even get that much consideration. Sammy Angott of Washington, Pa., newly crowned undisputed holder of the lightweight championship, was placed behind Bob Montgomery of Philadelphia, while two leather pushers, Ted Kong Young of Hawaii, and Manuel Ortiz of Los Angeles, were graded better than Lou Salica.

Harrisburg, Dec. 29.—(P)—The Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association by an overwhelming vote has refused to raise its age limit from 19 to 20 years, a tabulation of district referendums disclosed today.

The vote was 327 to 152 with District 12, which proposed the change, the only one returning a favorable margin—19 to 2. The remaining 11 districts expressed disapproval ranging from 43 to 2 in District Two to 32-31 in District Six.

The count in other Districts: One, Philadelphia suburban area, 35-24; Three, Central Pennsylvania (Harrisburg), 41-20; Four, 21-13; Five, 11-3; Seven, Pittsburgh suburban area, 36-23; Eight, 8-0; Nine, 18-7; 10, 20-14; 11, Eastern Pennsylvania anthracite area, 40-9.

The 19-year limit, effective last Sept. 1, provides that a player reaching this age during the fall sports season may complete that season but is ineligible for winter and spring sports. Those reaching 19 after Nov. 15, may compete in winter sports but not those in the spring while those becoming 19 after April 1, may complete spring sports before becoming ineligible.

District 12, including Northeastern counties of Pike, Susquehanna, Wayne and Wyoming, claimed the limit eliminated too many players from competition in their senior year and placed an extra burden on small schools which already are handicapped by lack of athletic competition.

Sentiment over the state was typical of that voiced by Chairman Frank Roth of District Three. He said adoption of the new proposal would mean that almost mature young men would be allowed to play against growing boys and "that wouldn't be fair to the young boys who have studied and earned their way through school as they should."

Tabulation of the vote came on the eve of the PIAA annual meeting here in conjunction with the Pennsylvania State Education Association Convention. There will be no business transacted at the hour's session starting at 5 p. m. tomorrow.

Meeting prior to the Association session, the PIAA Board of Control is scheduled to reorganize and act on applications for membership from Corry Junior High, District 10; Armagh Township High, District Six; Belleville High, District Six; McVeytown-Oliver Joint High, District Six; and Berlin-Brothers Valley Junior High, District Five.

MANY EXPECTED TO ENTER "Y" FOUL TOURNEY

The first entries in the New Year's Day four shooting contest to be sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. "Y" court, under the leadership of Ed Hasler, are expected by the association's physical director tomorrow with the first entry blanks being published tonight on the Warren Times-Mirror sports page.

There is no entry fee for the event, and it is probable that a large field of contestants will toe the line at 3:30 p. m. in the afternoon on Thursday.

Any youths, sixteen years of age or over, living anywhere in this area, are eligible to compete for the prize to be offered the winner, it was stated by Hasler.

Several entries are expected from Youngsville and Sheffield, besides the local field which Hasler hopes will be large.

Only obligations to those entering is that they meet with the rules, time and other regulations. The tourney will be run in eliminations, until two contestants will battle in the finals for the award to be given the winner.

HER ROMANCE WAS ORDERED but she canceled the order!

Romance was the last thing in the world pretty Lavinia Prentiss wanted. But wise old Aunt Lavinia knew better and she ordered it—ordered love and laughs and life for Lavinia who thought romance was only for the sentimentalists. What was the outcome? You'll find out in the liveliest love story to come from the presses in a long time. It's

BEATY QUINTET TOPS BULLDOGS, 31 TO 27

The Beatty Jr.-Hi-Y quint defeated the Bulldogs in a close contest in the Y. M. C. A. Older Boys League Saturday afternoon by a score of 31-27.

Scalise and Harris topped the winners with 10 points apiece, while Lindquist collected an equal number for the losers.

The Beatty quintet holds first place by virtue of the victory.

CRONIN GETTING READY FOR NEW BASEBALL YEAR

Reason, Dec. 29.—(P)—At 36, when a weary ball player's legs usually ache a good deal in a corner of the dugout, Joe Cronin is groaning through a daily exercise routine. "Just in case."

The stoutish manager of the Boston Red Sox declared at the recent minor league's meeting at Jacksonville that he definitely would be a bench manager next season. But he's done a powerful job of hedging since.

"That's why you'll find a handsome, chisel-chinned fellow, bundled in a heavy sweat suit and rubber blouse, enduring a heart-breaking and body-punishing training drill," Boston's University Club.

"Just in case," he panted as he pedaled furiously on a stationary bicycle. "Just in case Johnny Pesky (from Louisville) and Eddie Pellagrini (from San Diego) don't live up to expectations at shortstop."

"I'd wager one or the other of my kid shortstops will make the grade, but I can't be sure of it," Cronin intends to head for Florida New Year's Day for some more conditioning and then wind up with a course of baths at Hot Springs, Va.

A lot of the railbirds thought he was through before last season opened. But in his 16th big league campaign, the former boy wonder, who managed a pennant-winner for Washington when he was 27, showed 'em.

He didn't prance afield as of yore, but in 143 games he boosted his 1940 batting average of .258 to .311—and swung a mean stick with men on base.

Unknown Pro Wins In Beaumont Open Event

Beaumont, Tex., Dec. 29.—(P)—Chalk Harbert, an unknown who ducked even to place among golfers' twelve top money winners of 1941, was away from all the scents and won the $5,000 Beaumont open with a 276, eight below par for the 72 holes.

The professional Battle Creek, Mich., pro never was over par. He coasted in yesterday with an even par 71 to win by seven strokes over Lee Hogan and Paul Runyan, who tied for second place at 73.

Harbert pocketed a check for $1,000. Hogan saluted away $650 to finish out the year with total earnings in tournament play of $15,238. Sam Snead hit $19,600 in 1938.

Snead closed out the campaign with $12,848 with Byron Nelson in third place with $12,025 and National Open Champion Craig Wood fourth with $8,364.

LOST AND FOUND

The Solomon Islands are the earliest known and least visited islands of the Pacific ocean. They originally were found by Peruvian gold hunters, forgotten for 200 years, and found again in 1767.

Eagles frequently are accused of carrying off large children, but tests have shown that a golden eagle could fly only 14 yards when tossed from a height carrying an eight-pound weight.

FURTHER ATTEMPTS AT YEAR-END RALLY MADE ON THE MARKET TODAY

New York, Dec. 29.—(P)—The stock market made further stabs at a year-end rally today nad, in most cases, was moderately successful.

Rapid bursts of tax-selling again was a restraining factor and, while favorites got up fractions to a point or so, many leaders remained in the minus column near the fourth hour.

Wall Street was unable to work up much cheer over the war news, including the desperate Philippines defense against the Japanese invasion. Business developments were without a great amount of stimulation. Early bidding was attributed mainly to the belief the market was pretty generally

"sold out" and was due for at least a technical come-back.

Bonds and commodities leaned to the rising side.

Among stocks giving a good account of themselves were American Telephone, Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, United Aircraft, Sears, Roebuck, Kennecott and N. Y. Central.

The "bonding tobacco issues of Saturday gave up part of their advance. Among them were the "B" shares of American, Reynolds and Liggett & Myers. Standard Oil (NJ) was a soft spot, along with American Can and U. S. Rubber. Backward were General Motors, International Nickel, Texas Co. and Chesapeake & Ohio.

Technical Assistant (Engineering), $1,800 a year. Applicants must have completed at least 3 years of an appropriate 4-year college course. Applications may be filed until June 30, 1942.

The Commission has also reannounced the following engineering examinations with modified requirements:

Engineer, in all branches of engineering except chemical, metallurgical, marine, and naval architecture (for these fields other examinations are now open). Salaries range from $2,600 to $6,500 a year. Although applications may be filed with the Commission's Washington office until December 31, 1942 qualified persons are urged to apply at once.

Junior Engineer, $2,000 a year. Applications may be filed until June 30, 1942.

Engineering Draftsman, in various optional branches, $1,440 to $2,600 a year. Applications may be filed until December 31, 1942.

In order to secure additional qualified eligibles for Health Education Consultant positions in the Federal Security Agency, the closing date for receipt of applications has been extended to January 12, 1942.

The Commission is also recruiting for instructors for the Army Air Corps Technical School and Navy Aviation Schools.

See the "Keep 'Em Flying" examination announcement at your local post office.

All applications must be sent to the Washington office of the Civil Service Commission not later than the closing dates specified. Full information as to the requirements for these examinations, and application forms, may be obtained from W. T. McMichael, Secretary of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners at the post office or customhouse in this city, or from the Secretary of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, at any first or second-class post office.

Harrisburg, Dec. 29.—(P)—A light snowfall in three sections of Pennsylvania was reported today by the state highways department.

Cinder crews were ordered out because of icy roads in sections.

In the northwestern area from 12 to 2 inches of snow fell.

The northcentral area reported from 1 to 1½ inches of snow while the northeast section had up to a half inch of snow.

The temperature in all three districts was sub-freezing.

Fleet Not Idle

Says Sec. Knox

chief of the United States fleet.

As Mr. Roosevelt's message was made public, Dornier already was anticipating victory. The official Japanese news agency reported that the Mikado's expeditionary forces on Luzon were concentrating their main efforts on capturing Manila "before New Year's."

The Dornier announcement occasioned no great surprise here, for it is well known that the Japanese seek to have their victories fall on important festivals—and New Year's is Japan's greatest holiday.

It was noted that the Japanese were able to time their conquest of Hongkong to coincide with Christmas—the day which marks the anniversary of the present emperor's accession.

UDLOW CHURCH FORMER WARREN SERVICES ARE WOMAN LEAVES WELL ATTENDED $16,000 ESTATE

Ludlow, Dec. 26—Julotta and Christmas morning services were very well attended Thursday at 10:30 and 6:15 a. m. at the Moriah Lutheran church. Swedish songs sung by the choir were "Lysa för mig", "Engelska sånger" and "Det är jul". English songs were "Peaceful" and "Holy Night" and "Christmas Bells". The topics of pastor Grougust's sermons were: "Gud Med Oss" and "Lo I Am With You Always".

TIME IS SHORT FOR OBTAINING STORE LICENSES

A memorandum from H. W. Correll, secretary of the Warren Chamber of Commerce, calls for attention to the fact that dealers selling household appliances, building materials, furniture, and a wide variety of merchandise on the installment plan must be registered with the Federal Reserve Bank by December 31st if they wish to continue doing business after that date.

We still have a few of the registration forms in this office," Correll says, "which may be had by anyone requiring it. We have supplied more than fifty of the blanks, but there is a possibility that some dealer has delayed in securing one."

He calls attention again to the fact that a refund may be obtained for payments made on the Pennsylvania "Store and Theatre Tax" enacted in June 1937 but later declared unconstitutional. "The amount in any case is not large," he says, "but merchants might as well secure it inasmuch as there is no cost except notary fee, and even that is free to members of the Chamber." Petition forms are available at the Chamber office.

The Navy has 744 nurses on duty now and will have 1,250 by July, 1942.
